Speaking of the reported trouble between Indians and whites on the possibility of the Indians attempting to obstruct McFee's survey party, Mr. Burbank said that certainly the Beavers, whose hunting grounds lie to the north of St. John, had no love for white men and did not want them in their country. He did not think they would offer any open resistance, however, but they certainly would not offer any assistance to whites who were even in distress. Beavers who came to his post to trade in the spring told him of a number of white men who were tracking up the "big river", apparently the Nelson, and others who had died on the trail. Mr. Burbank's fur will be sold to-morrow.

SESSION NOTES.

OTTAWA, June 14, '99.

The bills extending the Intercolonial railway into Montreal by way of the Drummond Counties and Grand Trunk railways were carried last night by a vote of 91 to 40. This closes out one important piece of business of the session. The fact that there was only a short debate on the third reading argues a possible cessation of obstructive tactics by the opposition. Nothing new was brought out in the final debate. Hon. Mr. Foster claimed that the road was built for the subsidies of $650,000; that it could have been bought for $400,000 in 1894; that the first agreement of a payment of $64,000 a year for 99 years was equal to a cash price of $2,049,192. The present price of $1,600,000 was a saving on that, of $445,000 or $500,000 for which the senate was entitled to credit. The new bargain with the Grand Trunk was also much better than the first one. But after all it meant loading down the I. C. R. with $212,000 a year fixed charges to enter into a field of keener competition.

Hon. Mr. Blair's reply was that it was necessary to bring the Intercolonial into Montreal and he had brought it in by the only means possible. The government engineer reported that the Drummond railway had cost its owner $2,000,000, not $650,000 as Hon. Mr. Foster had said. As to the alleged improvement in the bargain with the Grand Trunk, he was free to say that he had improved the bargain. That was why he had made a new bargain.

The net result to the opposition of their fight against the extension of the Intercolonial into Montreal has been anything but of advantage to them. They started out with a great flourish of charges of corruption and extravagance; and opposed the principle of the extension altogether on the ground that it was an attempt to compete with the C. P. R. The charges of corruption were investigated and could not be proven; those of extravagance have fared no better, and opposition to the principle had to be abandoned at an early date, as it was plain to be seen that the country approved. The fight that has been kept up this session has been on details, with the simple purpose of trying to lead the public mind away from its fixed approval of the principle involved. This principle reaches far further than merely the line from Levis to Montreal. It touches the right, and necessity and practicability of government ownership of railways, and of competition by such railways.

On Monday the Georgian Bay canal was discussed favorably and at length by Belcourt, liberal, Ottawa, and Klack, conservative, Nipissing. Sproule, conservative, opposed. It seems that the support or opposition to this scheme is governed largely by locality. Members representing the Ottawa valley are strongly in favor of it, while members representing other parts of the country are against it—especially those representing the district along the line of the possible Toronto and Georgian Bay canal or portage railway.

The government made no sign as to their views on the question.

Dr. Sproule, conservative, moved a resolution advocating a bonus for the growth of sugar beets. This aroused considerable discussion. Sir Charles Tupper gave a moderate support to the idea, and the minister of agriculture opposed. He said that the experiment of manufacturing sugar from beets had been tried already in Canada at a cost of over two million dollars, and had failed. In no country in the world did the sugar beet industry flourish except where bounty fed. The discussion was not concluded.

The bill to incorporate the Edmonton and Saskatchewan railway company received its third reading. It was amended on motion of Mr. Oliver to require the company to build into the corporate limits of the village of Fort Saskatchewan. This was strongly opposed by Mr. Casey, liberal for West Elgin, who acted on behalf of the company. A somewhat lurid discussion took place between Messrs. Oliver and Casey on the latter producing a township map showing the township in the range next west, as that containing Fort Saskatchewan town site, and basing his arguments on it. The amendment to protect the interests of the town was carried by a good majority, which included a good proportion of members on both sides of the house. The vote on this occasion will establish to some extent the principle that it is the right and duty of the house to protect the legitimate vested interests of pioneers when granting railway charters.

Last night the finance minister's resolution to extend the term during which bounties are to be granted to the iron producing industry, and to provide for a gradual reduction of the duties so that they will cease altogether after 1906, was discussed at some length. The proposition to extend the present term of granting the bounties met with a great deal of approval on the opposition side.

Messrs. Edwards and Ellis, liberals, placed themselves on record as being opposed to the bounty principle involved in the extension of the bounty term. They would not actually oppose the government, but felt compelled to voice their views on the matter. Bertram, liberal, supported the iron bounties and looked for the American continent to become the seat of the iron shipbuilding industry of the future, in which he hoped to see Canada share.

MIXING WHEAT.

A deputation of Eastern Canadian grain dealers and millers visited Ottawa on Tuesday to protest against the bill recently introduced by the inland revenue to prevent the mixing of different grades of western wheat. The bill was prepared at the instance of the western grain standards board. They were represented by C. N. Bell, secretary of the Winnipeg board of trade, Hon. Sir Henri Joly, Hon. Messrs. Patterson, Mulock and Sifton. The western and several other members of parliament were present at the meeting which was held all afternoon and night, and did not adjourn until two o'clock on Wednesday morning. The trouble was as to where the final inspection of western grain should take place; or whether there should be any really final inspection. With a view to prevent mixing while in transit to the sea board, the bill provided that grain should be finally inspected at Winnipeg. The eastern men claimed that it should be inspected wherever purchased for consumption, as there was a possibility of its condition changing during transfer from Winnipeg to the mill in Eastern Canada or the ocean port.

To understand the question it is necessary to understand the nature of the wheat. Red fife wheat raised in Manitoba or the Northwest Territories has a certain quality not possessed by any other wheat in the world. It is not that it makes so much better bread than any other, but that it will make more bread from an equal weight than any other wheat. This being the case it possesses a value bushel for bushel over any other wheat. As it is difficult in the ordinary processes of farming to keep seed absolutely pure; red fife without the mixture of any other grain is not expected to be offered for sale. The value of a bushel of western wheat depends, not only on its soundness, color, shape and weight, but more than all on the proportion of red fife which it contains. For convenience of dealers certain standards of quality are fixed by law. Grain of say No. 1, standard must weigh not less than 60 pounds to the bushel and contain not less than say 75 per cent of red fife. Besides being clean, sound and of good form and color. No. 2 weighs less per bushel, and has a less percentage of red fife. And so on down the scale. While the weight of the grain and the percentage of red fife which it must contain to entitle it to a place in a certain standard are, or are to be, absolutely fixed, it is quite clear that within the limits of each standard there is room for considerable variation. For instance say that No. 2 is 58 lbs. to the bushel, and No. 1, 60 lbs. That No. 2 must have 60 per cent of red fife and No. 1, 75 per cent. If a bushel of wheat weighs only 53 lbs. to the bushel and contains only 74 per cent of red fife it will only be entitled to grade as No. 2. Or it might weigh 61 lbs. to the bushel, but having only 73 per cent of red fife would only be entitled to rank as No. 2, although really practically as valuable as No. 1. Or it might have say 79 per cent of red fife and only weigh 59 lbs to the bushel, and so only No. 2. Or it might be of full weight and percentage of red fife and be off color and so miss the grade. As the weight and proportion of red fife contained are decided on the judgment of the buyer or inspector—not by an absolutely accurate test—he necessarily grades the grain under rather than over its real standard. The result is that at the end of the season's buying a great deal of the grain bought as No. 2, if it will not grade No. 1 is so far above the minimum No. 2 standard that a greater or less quantity of say No. 3 grain may be mixed with it without reducing it below the minimum No. 2 standard. It is also evident that if a bushel of No. 2 grain weighing say 62 lbs. to the bushel and containing say 70 per cent of red fife is mixed with a bushel, also No. 2 weighing 58 lbs. to the bushel and containing say 80 per cent of red fife, the result is two bushels of No. 1 wheat worth six to ten cents more for sale on an inspectors certificate than before it was mixed.

It will thus be seen that there are great inducements to dealers to mix wheat; and it has been done to such an extent that it is commonly understood that practically no really No. 1 reaches the British market—the grain of extra quality being used to bring No. 2 up to No. 1 standard. The result is that Manitoba wheat does not command that price and find that demand to which its real merits entitle it. This reacts on the Manitoba farmer, who after getting only No. 2 price for a great deal of what the dealer by mixing sells as No. 1, finds the price of No. 1 depressed altogether below what it is worth as it leaves his hands when compared with the wheat of other countries.

The farmer knows that if the wheat which he sells reaches the British miller containing the same proportion of red fife and having the same weight and quality as when it left his hands, it would be worth more to the miller than as he now gets it. The miller whether in Britain or Canada pays what the wheat is worth to him after being ground, no matter what the inspectors certificate may be, or what the grade may be called. The reputation of Manitoba wheat has been such that the miller desired it and paid something extra for it. But since the mixing process has become a fine art, and he only gets the bottom instead of the run of the grades, he does not want it any more than other wheat, and by reason of this falling off in demand the general price is depressed, to the loss of the Manitoba farmer.

The mixing process is only valuable in so far as it is able to trade on an established reputation. Once the reputation has been lowered the profit to the middlemen is represented by a loss to the farmer. Hence the demand of the western farmer for fixed standards and unmixed grades.

The mixing of the wheat, or "skimming the grades" as it is called, is done while it is passing through certain elevators. When the grain trade was younger the Winnipeg dealers had a monopoly of the mixing business, and found it very profitable. But in time eastern dealers saw the beauties of the system and adopted it. When the Winnipeg dealers saw that they had no longer a monopoly of mixing, and when they found that the value of the whole crop was suffering because of the extent and thoroughness of the practice, they joined the western farmers in protesting against it. The government, recognizing the evil acceded to the request to have the wheat finally inspected for grade at Winnipeg. This inspection to stand throughout, except in case of mistake or falling off in condition. The reason for Winnipeg being fixed as the point of inspection was because that was the most westerly general receiving point; and the nearer to the grain fields the final inspection can be made the less chance there is for mixing in transit from the fields to the sea. As the final inspection at Winnipeg cut the eastern dealers out of their share of the illegitimate profit they naturally objected; and came down to Ottawa, horse-foot and artillery to secure the protection of their right to a share in the skimming of the western farmer. Ordinarily it might be supposed that the people who raised the grain should have the most to say in protecting its quality. Not so, however, these philanthropists argued that they had the votes of the eastern commercial centres behind them and what they said should go.

It is understood that they have secured the promise of some changes in the bill in their interests; but what they really are will not be known until it comes up for discussion in the house.

STRATHCONA MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

Elections for the first mayor and councillors for the newly incorporated town of Strathcona, took place on Tuesday.

The following is a list of the successful candidates for municipal honors, with the number of votes cast for each:

MAYOR.
Thos. Bennett,	78
COUNCILLORS.
J. J. Dugan,	87
W. H. Sheppard,	85
J. J. MacKenzie,	80
R. A. Hulbert,	75
M. McIntyre,	69
John Walter,	68

J. T. McLaren and John Walter were a tie, 67 each. The returning officer gave the casting vote, electing Mr. Walter.

The unsuccessful candidates for the mayoralty were: R. Kitchens, 56; H. Wilson, 36. For Councillors, J. T. McLaren, 67; Davies, 62; McLaren, 56; Blain, 55; Cowles, 42; Blissett, 40; McCully, 39; Ross, 38; Sachs, 32; Brunelle, 10; Dawson, 5.

A. C. Rutherford was returning officer. The vote passed off quietly, without undue excitement.

FROM ST. JOHN.

Fifteen returning kidnappers came in yesterday from St. John and points beyond. Their names are: C. P. Braithwaite, brother of Dr. Braithwaite, of Edmonton; H. and Wilkinson, of Minneapolis; A. Allen, of Edmonton; E. A. Harris, of the late Clatsworth party; Wm. H. Phillips, of Portland, Maine; W. G. Long, Toronto; J. K. Crossley, Calgary; L. O'Connor, Winnipeg; John A. Brown, London, Ont.; W. O. Toddhunter, Peoria, Ill.; J. C. Landy, Jas. Foster, Henry Clawson, Minneapolis; John K. Kennedy and D. Cushman, Toronto. Eight of the men, namely Messrs. Braithwaite, Wilkinson, Long, Brown, Foster, O'Connor and Landy were affected with scurvy, but all are now recovering. They report considerable sickness and a number of deaths from scurvy and other causes among the parties at St. John and beyond. A Dutchman, name unknown, was supposed to have been drowned while crossing the Pine river. Another, name unknown, died from scurvy at Grand Prairie. An elderly man named Dewie is reported to have died on an island in the Peace river this spring, and another man, unknown, is said to have died from rapids at his camp some miles north of St. John. Reports of trouble among the Indians and prospectors are unfounded.

An empty boat belonging to the Buchanan's party shot the canyon of the Peace in safety. This is about the first case on record of a boat shooting the rapids unharmed.

The treaty and scrip commissioners were met on the 13th on Little Slave river, seven miles from the lake. They would get to the lake next day and would probably reach Slave lake post on the 17th. They were met at the lake by seventeen H. B. Co. boatmen in charge of Dan. Ferguson, who had been sent from the post to meet them.

COUNCIL MEETING.

An adjourned meeting was held on Tuesday night, acting Mayor McLeod in the chair. Present councillors Jackson, Brown and MacKenzie.

Letter of H. Morel, offering Lot 43 river lot 8 for $450 was accepted subject to passing of market by law.

Letter of Hon. J. I. Tarte, dated 6th inst, stating portion of superstructure of bridge is ready to be shipped to Edmonton, was filed.

Request of W. H. Cooper, Sec. sports committee, for the usual grant from the council towards the celebration was laid over to be considered at an adjourned meeting to be held on the 27th inst.

C. F. Strang, treasurer of immigration committee, was informed that as yet the council had made no grant towards this object.

The matter of the closing of second and third streets, H. B. Co. resolve, from Hardisty avenue to the river, came up through a letter of Jas. McDonald, protesting against the closing of the streets and requesting that the council take such steps as they may deem advisable to protect the interests of the public and himself in the enjoyment of their rights. The matter was laid over until next meeting and the matter will be investigated in the meantime.

Refund of taxes was made to H. G. Silver, as requested.

Petition for grading of McKay avenue between fourth and fifth streets was referred back to petitioners for further signatures, and amendment.

Request for crossing on main street from Garripy & Chenier's store to Bellamy's warehouse was referred to board of works.

Jas. McDonald was awarded contract for construction of six foot sidewalk on west side of Queens avenue from Stovel & Strang's store to C. Sutter's residence.

ASSAULT CASE.

The preliminary trial of Alfred Martin, the teamster charged with the brutal assault on Miss May Gerrard, took place at the police barracks on Monday afternoon and evening before G. W. Gardner, J. P. Seven witnesses were examined, namely: Miss Gerrard, Forbes Groat, John Wright, Dr. Harrison, Wm. Longmore, Angele Chiffoux and Sergt. Aston.

Miss Gerrard in her evidence told how the prisoner a few minutes before seven had come to Mr. Kinnaird's house—where she was alone, except for one of the children, six years old,—and asked if she had seen a horse which he had lost. She answered his question and got him a field glass with which he viewed some horses on the flat below, stating they were not his. She then replaced the glass expecting him to go, but he still remained standing on the verandah, and as she turned to go down the steps to call the children, he struck her on the side and top of the head with a stick which he carried. She stumbled, but did not fall and caught him by the handkerchief which was around his neck. He tried to prevent her crying out, but she screamed, and he jerked himself away, jumped over the back gate and ran away. This was only five or ten minutes after Mr. and Mrs. Kinnaird had left the house. Prisoner said he had just come from Minnesota and was camped by the ferry. Witness positively identified the accused as the man who committed the assault.

Forbes Groat testified to seeing the prisoner about 3 p.m. on the old St. Albert trail. He was quite sober. John Wright, a boy of ten, who was playing near the house, also recognized the prisoner as the man whom he had seen struggling with Miss Gerrard on the verandah. Dr. Harrison deposed as to the injuries received by Miss Gerrard stating that "such a blow, delicate as she is, would cause previous bodily harm." Wm. Longmore and Angele Chiffoux deposed as to seeing prisoner in the woods near the Kinnaird residence during the evening. He was then carrying a stick or club.

Sergt. Aston testified as to having received information of the assault and of procuring a description of her assailant from Miss Gerrard, acting on which he arrested the prisoner at 11.30 at his house near the fire hall and drove him at once to Mr. Kinnaird's where he was recognized by Miss Gerrard as her assailant.

The accused on being asked the usual questions as to whether he had anything to say in answer to the charge, gave a long, rambling statement as to having drunk a quantity of beer on Sunday afternoon, and of having met a man he had never seen before who gave him a drink out of a big bottle of whiskey, the ultimate result of all of this being that he "did not know anything till he got home at night."

The accused was committed for trial and taken to Fort Saskatchewan.

The club which was found near the place was evidently prepared for the purpose and showed signs of considerable wear. It is about two and a half feet long, slightly tapering, and about the thickness of a man's wrist at its largest end. In the smaller end a handhold had been cut.

To Sergt. Aston great credit is due for his prompt detection and arrest of the culprit.

SUPPLEMENT.

Who Pays It?

When the eastern retail tailoring establishment sends a representative to Edmonton, who pays his salary, railway fare and hotel expenses? Do his employers lose it, or do his customers pay for it in addition to paying the proper value of the goods and the usual percentage of profit thereon? The question answers itself. The man who would be well clothed can do so by dealing with

ON THE UPPER LIARD.

Mrs. Russell, of Edmonton, is in receipt of a letter from her son John, written from Dease river post on the Liard, on April 4th. Mr. Russell, with his partner Jas. Keneely, left Edmonton in the spring of '98 by boat, taking the Athabasca-MacKenzie route to the Liard up which river they tracked to their present destination.

In his letter he states: There is no gold on the Liard river worth staying for, and there are lots of people here with no money and no grub. Flour is worth $50 a hundred and none for sale; Fortunately my partner and I have enough supplies and money to keep us here two years if we think it worth while. There are about 300 men here. We are starting to-morrow for Pelly Banks; It will take about three weeks to get there and then we will go down to Fort Selkirk or Dawson. A. D. Osborne is about 90 miles below here, short of supplies. It is every one for himself in here. There are a number sick with the scurvy. Game is plentiful; I went out the other day and killed two moose as big as cows.
The meat sells here for 25 cents a pound. Scores of people are leaving here every day. I am enjoying my usual health—never felt better in my life.

Under the same date Mr. Russell writes to his sister here, Miss E. J.
Russell on much the same lines as the letter to his mother. In it he says he had a fine trip so far, could not wish for better, and expects to return to Edmonton in the fall.

The letters came out by the coast and Victoria. It will be noticed that in neither of them does Mr. Russell mention any blood-curdling incidents of starvation, murder and suicide, as industriously reported from the coast, and which, it is claimed, occurred in the region in which he was at the time of writing.

TOWN CENSUS.

The official returns of C. A. Lowe's census were read at the council meeting on Tuesday night. The return shows:

Total males, 1,171

females, 1,041

Grand total, 2,212

The census showed the following denominations: Roman Catholics 688; Of Jewish faith, 12; Chinamen, 13; Other denominations 1,498.

CHANGE OF TRAIN TIME

Owing to the inauguration of the new "Imperial Flyer", by which the running time from coast to coast has been reduced, a change has been made in the time of arrival and departure of trains on the C. & E. The new time card took effect on Monday night. The incoming trains will arrive at 19.40 (7.40) an hour later than usual, and the outgoing train for the south leaves at 7.30 instead of 8.20 as before, almost an hour earlier. The train for the south arrives in Calgary at 6.30 and the eastbound flyer leaves at 7.30, giving passengers an hour there.

Victoria Colonist: Immigration is pouring into the country around Edmonton.
A country that will produce from 50 to 60 bushels of wheat to the acre, or 120 bushels of oats, where the winters are not severe, where the summers are delightful, and where there is good government and equal rights for all, will surely not long go begging for settlers.
